MONGOLIA'S TOP HIGHLIGHTS

THE WORLD'S LAST SURVIVING NOMADIC CULTURES

For millennia, herders have lived on the Mongolian land, living as free as the country is wide. Mongolia's vast steppe is home to one of the world's last surviving nomadic cultures. The Mongolian steppe remains mostly intact, and its nomadic way of life has been largely unchanged for generations. Some herding customs alive today pre-date the era of Genghis Khan.

HISTORICAL SIGHTS AND NATURAL WONDERS IN MONGOLIA

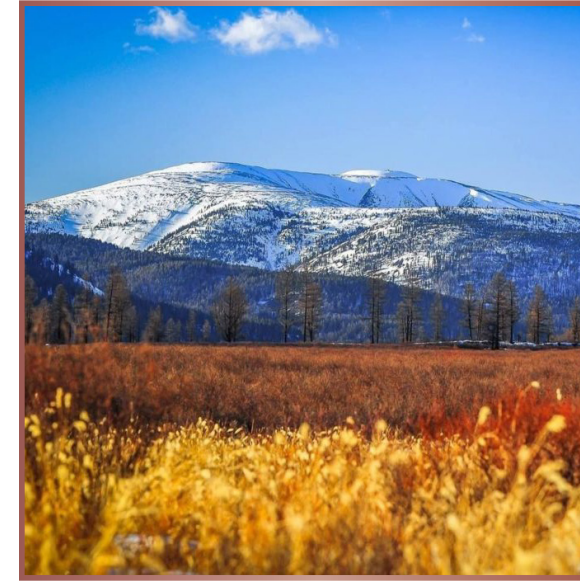

The central region has many historical sights and natural wonders in Mongolia's heartland and few traces remain of Kharakhorum, the 13th-century capital of the Mongol Empire, and it was once the central hub of civilization during the times of the great Mongolian empire. There were many craftsmen and traders brought back to the city from all over conquered states and as democratic rule, both Mongolians and foreigners were legally equal right to live in the city.

LEGENDARY GOBI DESERT

The Gobi remains a distinctly beautiful area of the planet, with a rich history buried beneath its surface. So far there are about more than 90 species of dinosaur fossils has founded from the Mongolian Gobi. the remote South Gobi of Mongolia, home to the rich dinosaur fossils reserve, the "Land of the Dinosaurs" is an area of great paleontological site, magnificent vistas and unique Gobi land formations.

BURKHAN KHALDUN SACRED MOUNTAIN

HORSE BASED CULTURE

Historically, Mongols built the biggest land empire the world has ever known with the horse as their driven force. Mongolia has been a horse based culture for thousands of years. Even today, horses are essential to daily life of Mongolian.

The Burkhan Khaldun is one of the Khentii Mountain Range in the Khentii Province of northeastern Mongolia. The mountain or its locality is believed to be the birthplace of Chingis Khaan as well as the location of his tomb. The mountain is in the 12,000 square kilometres (4,600 sq mi) Strictly Protected Area established in 1992. It had strong religious significance before Genghis Khan made it a powerful landmark, but is considered the most sacred mountain in Mongolia since it was designated as sacred by Genghis Khan. It was inscribed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site at the 39th session of the World Heritage Committee on July 4, 2015 under the title "Great Burkhan Khaldun Mountain and its surrounding sacred landscape".

HUB OF SPECIAL INTEREST TOURISM

Mongolia is hub of special interest tourism. Therefore, we are truly enthusiastic about representing you the many features of our amazing country that we call home.

NAADAM FESTIVAL

Visiting the Naadam Festival will definitely lead to better understanding of Mongolian history and culture. Naadam is a time when Mongolians celebrate who they are, how proud they are to be Mongolian. Naadam is the biggest festival of the year for Mongolians and is held in the Mongolian capital Ulaanbaatar during the National Holiday from July 11-13. It begins with an elaborate introduction ceremony featuring dancers, athletes, horse riders, and musicians. After the opening ceremony, the competitions begin

ALTAI MOUNTAIN RANGE-SIMPLY HIGH, WILD AND SPECTACULAR

The Mongol Altai Range has many peaks reaching 4000 meters above sea level and stretches for almost 1000 km from the north-western part of the country to the south and over 20 peaks are capped with eternal snow in the range. The tallest of these, Khuiten Uul, is the highest mountain in Mongolia, at 4,369m (about 14,300 feet). Despite its remote location, the park and its beautiful scenery make it the premier attraction in the Western Mongolia. Divided from China by a high wall of snow-capped peaks, the area is a trekker's paradise.

ASIA'S BLUE PEARL

With its 4 islands, Khuvsgul Lake is Mongolia's largest and deepest lake and known as "Blue Pearl". The lake area is surrounded by forest mountains and only Eg river flows out from the lake although total 111 rivers flow in Huvsgul lake. The lake is 136 km long, 36 km wide, 262 meters deep from its surface to the bottom and reserves over 2% of the world's fresh water. The north-western part of Khuvsgul lake basin is a native place of reindeer people. The culture of these people have changed little and like many of Mongolia's nomads, and particularly those in the north, shamanism plays an important role in their lives.

DELIGHTS OF MONGOLIA

EXPERIENCE THE CULTURE AND STUNNING LANDSCAPES OF MONGOLIA IN THIS HOLIDAY.

The central region has many historical sights and natural wonders in Mongolia's heartland, particularly in the Orkhon River Valley, which contains archaeological remains dating back several centuries.

Furthermore, Khorgo extinct volcano is located on the northern part of Khangai Mountain Range and is rich in beautiful scenery of mountains, cliffs, rapid streams, rivers, lakes, extinct volcanoes, green forests and pastures, where the long-haired yaks and horses pasture. After exploring it, you'll reach Terkh White Lake and the lake is an astonishingly beautiful lake with relatively pure fresh water. The lake was designated as a Wetland of International Importance during the Ramsar Convention in 1999. After leaving the central region, you'll reach at Khuvsgul Lake which is located in northern part of Mongolia. With its 4 islands, Khuvsgul Lake is Mongolia's largest and deepest lake and known as "Blue Pearl".

This holiday is full of enough activity, excitement and unforgettable experiences to last a lifetime.

Kharakhorum is Mongolian ancient capital city and was founded in 1220 in Orkhon Valley. As strategically, it was positioned at the crossroads of the Silk Road. It was from there that the Mongol Empire governed, until Khubilai Khaan moved it to Beijing. As historically, it was initiated by Chingis Kaan and started to build in 1220 and his son Ogedei Khaan completed it.

But it was served a capital city of Mongolian Empire only 40 years. Today the symbolic ruins of the first Buddhist monastery in Mongolia Erdene Zuu left which was built on the ground of the Kharakhorum in 1586. Interesting historical fact is in 1253 the French sculptor Guillaume Bouchier designed and built the most famous fountain in the city. The fountain was in the shape of a huge silver tree, which simultaneously dispensed mare's milk from silver lion's heads, and wine, rice wine from four golden spouts shaped. On top of the tree was an angel. Also there were many craftsmen and traders brought back to the city from all over conquered states and as democratic rule, both Mongolians and foreigners were legally equal right to live in the city.

This fantastic holiday offers horse riding to Asralt summit magnificent peak of the Khentii Mountain and is elevated 2800 meter (9183 ft) above the sea level. You journey on the real natural trails that the local people still use to this day, passing through amazing wilderness. The wilderness of the Khentii Mountain Range is untouched area in Mongolia entitled as a Special Protected Area. It is one of the most remarkable landscapes, with ecological oddities, the watersheds for several river systems such as Onon, Kherlen and Tuul rivers which are draining eastward and to the Pacific Ocean and Northward to the Arctic Ocean. Therefore this horse riding destination will cover some of the most remote grassland and forested mountain areas of the range. Along with the beauty of its picturesque landscape, during the trip you will see and experience nomadic herders who make up one of the world's last remaining nomadic cultures. They still live in traditional felt tents, subsisting on the meat and milk of their animals, and living "as free as the country is wide." You have to ride through rivers, hard cliff paths, grassland and pastures, flowered untouched landscapes which make the area an unforgettable and little-known destination for travelers.

Our horse trails have been created to allow guests to explore areas of the country along with experiencing nomadic culture, adventure, fun and relaxation.
